Snow job

There may not be much snow on the ground -- or on the highways -- now, but if it comes in large drifts later this winter, county road crews will be ready. Here, Vic Montano of the Illinois Dept. of Transportation climbs into his plow while preparing for the inevitable onslaught. See story inside on county preparation efforts. --Photo by Tom Wolfe

4-H draws interests of youngsters

Every Saturday morning more than 100 youths can hardly wait to get to school in Lake Villa. They are there when the doors open at 9:30 a.m. and complain when they have to go home at 12:30 p.m.

To rate this kind of rapt attention there must be something special about all this.

There is! It's 4-H. What was once a club appealing mainly to rural youth has been urbanized.

To provide a Saturday activity program for area youth, Lake Villa grade schools this year formed a partnership with the University of Illinois Extension Service.

The school provides the space. The local extension advisor applies the know-how. The community comes up with the volunteer leaders. And the children love it.

Each Saturday for eight weeks approximately 100 youths of all ages and interests participate in a variety of programs. The type depend on the volunteers willing to lead them.

Offered in the opening series were programs in small motors, electronics, woodworking, veterinary science, photography, three computer classes and a community awareness class that took field trips to the Milwaukee Zoo and Chicago Art Institute.

Three eight-week sessions are offered. As more

4-H Club class

Computers are the most popular program offered in the Saturday morning 4-H Clubs at Lake Villa Intermediate School in a unique cooperative educational venture that has urbanized the traditionally farm-oriented organization. David Pedersen, 11, of Lake Villa and Chad Simmons, 11, of Lindenhurst, are among the 100 youths in the weekend program that started last fall. There are three computer classes of youths of all ages.

Volunteers become available other subjects may be offered. Some leaders in the current session are Navy-men from Great Lakes. "All of these people have knowledge they want to share with others," Supt. of Schools Peter Palombi said.

"Such people help make this program a success. All of them deserve a huge round of applause."

Palombi said the Saturday program gives students an outlet for their creative energies and may help them develop new interests beyond the weekday classroom.

Those enrolled in the program automatically become members of the 4-H Club. Club members are eligible to exhibit projects at the annual Lake County fair.

Those attending are grouped by age and interest.

School officials encourage attendance by other students living in Lake Villa Twp. They also encourage other schools to form similar programs.

Those desiring more information may call Palombi at (312) 356-2385.

30,000 county septic systems in jeopardy

by JOSEPH SOULAK

Plans by builders and buyers for a new home in the rural confines of Lake County may go down the drain this spring. Blame it on the Lake County Health Dept. and its new septic system guidelines.

"People don't want their neighbor's septic system overflowing into their yard and none of us want it going into the lakes, but that is what is happening," Thacker said.

Affected are an estimated 30,000 homes in unincorporated areas of the county with septic systems and the 800 new homes built each year requiring septic tanks. This is 10 to 20 percent of residences.

With guidelines effective Nov. 18, homes in new subdivisions served by septic tanks must have a 100 percent expansion field. Those in already platted subdivisions must have a 75 percent area.

Specifically, if a septic tank fails or must be replaced, there must be a 75 or 100 percent equivalent area to which it can be expanded.

"This guideline formalizes an existing county ordinance," said Colin Thacker, environmental health director for the Health Dept. Until now the ordinance has been interpreted differently by developers, builders and homeowners.

Prior to a June 1976 change in the ordinance, the 75 and 100 percent rule was not rigidly enforced. Since that time it has been loosely followed, mostly at the request of builders and would-be homeowners.

"As a result there have been many septic tank failures," Thacker said without giving a specific number. Some are in new areas where Lake County's clay-based soil and, possibly, poor construction combine to cause trouble.

Dozens of other failures are in older subdivisions with summer homes dating to the 1920s and 1930s. Many surround lakes where the soil and years of septic tanks have outlived their usefulness.

"People don't want their neighbor's septic system overflowing into their yard and none of us want it going into the lakes, but that is what is happening," Thacker said.

Where septic tanks have failed and cannot be repaired or rebuilt, the Health Dept. recommends water-conservation measures. This includes flushing toilets once or twice a day, fewer weekly showers for the family, no washing of clothes and pumping the system every one or two weeks. Calling the honey wagon costs $50 to $60 per trip in northern Lake County, $100 in the southern portion.

Where the septic must be replaced the homeowner can request a variance. This is not easy to come by. "When this happens in a particular area to more than one home it is time for sanitary sewers," Thacker said.

Permits for new subdivisions and lots will be by the book, Thacker said. "If they don't qualify, no septic. He said the 75/100 percent rule is a nationally accepted norm.

"We've got to be concerned about the future, which is 20 to 30 years down the road," the health official said.

To demonstrate how tough the Health Dept. has become, Thacker cited the example of two new homes, one in the southern part of the county, the other near Libertyville.

One is on a small lot where the builder obtained a pre-construction septic permit. "It was later determined the lot was too small, so the new owner, at this point, cannot move in," Thacker said.

This could be your child's most important Victory.

Victory Over Alcohol and Drugs.

Sullivan, Fields in township race

by GLORIA DAVIS

Antioch Twp. Sup. Jim Fields, a 12-year veteran of that office, and former chairman of the Lake County Board, will face opposition for that job on the April 4 ballot. Both Fields and Frank Sullivan were at the township hall bright and early Monday to file their candidacy papers, so there will be a drawing for ballot position.

Sullivan, who is a floor trader and a member of the Chicago Board Options Exchange, has been the spearhead of the Antioch Twp. Assn., a group fighting to keep open space in the township in lieu of all the new annexations to the village and other development in the township.

Although it is the open space issue that has Sullivan running against Fields, he is also raising additional questions about the present township government.

He asks, "Are township financial assets producing the highest possible returns so that the township taxes can be low?"

Sullivan adds that he would like to see an easier way taxpayers can hold their public officials accountable than just by voting for or against them every four years.

Fields says that he "will change very little" if the voters put him back in office for another four years.

Fields is also a Lake County Board member and just lost his bid to retain his seat as the county board chairman to Norm Geary.

On the plus sides of his long-time administration, Fields lists close cooperation with the Village of Antioch; working with parks and recreation to see that township residents can continue to pay the same fees as village residents for using parks and recreation activities and work with the Antioch Senior Center.

He adds that his administration has also gotten community development grants every year to be used for the drainage of the township's subdivisions.

Fields, who says the township is now in the black, sees no reason for a tax raise in the near future.

"Since the township government has nothing to do with planning and zoning or annexations to the village, I don't see what winning a township office has to do with open space."

Sullivan intends to use his campaign as a podium for his open space fight through talks and open letters to the residents.

Emmons first graders illustrating books

by LIZ SCHMEHL
(312)395-5380

Upon completion of my article each week, I wonder what I will write about in my next column. My problem is solved each time as I receive calls from many nice people sharing their news with me. I'd like to say "Thank You" to everyone who takes a few moments out of their busy schedules to share special happenings in their life with us all. Keep calling, because without you there would be no "Hometown Goodies!"

The first graders at Emmons School have been busy illustrating some "Big" books, as well as writing and illustrating their own books. They are all very creative story tellers.

The first graders make great little detectives. As they read, they must pick out deserve a nice "long" vacation. They say Europe is nice the "entire" month won't be too long and Jimmy Schmehl's dog, Bertha, will be ready for marriage. Remember you can reach Jimmy at the home of "The Lizard"!

The Antioch Upper Grade School will host its annual eighth grade boys basketball tournament on Jan. 25, 26, and 28.

The first round action begins at 4 p.m. on Wednesday, Jan. 25, at the Upper Grade School. Murphy vs. Lake Villa at 4 p.m. and Carl Sandburg vs. Lake Zurich at 5:15 p.m.

The games will resume at 7:15 p.m. with Westfield vs. Viking and Antioch vs. Round Lake at 8:30 p.m.

Consolation semi-finals will be Jan. 26 at 4 p.m. followed by the championship semi-finals at 7:15 p.m. Playoffs for consolation third and fourth will be Saturday, Jan. 28 at 12:30 p.m., with consolation championship beginning at 1:45 p.m.

The championship playoffs for third and fourth place will start at 4 p.m. with the championship game scheduled for 5:15 p.m. Admission is 75 cents for students in eighth grade and under and $1.50 for freshmen through adult. Anyone having further questions, call Bill Herbst at (312)395-1905.

20 YEARS AGO; JAN. 23, 1969

The Antioch Grade School Board was looking into ways of cutting costs during the bad weather with Supt. Richard Whittaker stressing that nothing will be cut from the present school programs.

Irene Gable reported that since the warning against smoking was put on cigarette packs some flight attendants had noted a noticeable drop in the ranks of non-smoking passengers during this the first year afterwards.

The Antioch Police were still investigating the break-in at Lorenz's Country house that netted burglars over $1,000.

On the winning team relay for the Alaskan sled race at Grass Lake School were members of Scout Pack 80, Kurt Flint, Jack Wojnowiak, Mike Vaughn and Martin Lloyd.

John Wayne was at the local show in "Hellfighters."

Wes Camp and Rich Irmen, along with Betty and Ken Smouse, directed by Gloria Davis, were doing a benefit for the Lake County Mental Health Auxiliary with "Broadway Etc." on the stage of Antioch High School.

Roger Andrews ACHS cagers had lost six of their last seven games with Sequoits like Dave Camp and Jeff Sterbenz on the court.

15 YEARS AGO; Jan. 24, 1974

With Antioch High winning two basketball games in a row, Vic McGuire was named most valuable player.

The Sequoits VFW Auxiliary with Ellen Flint membership chairman, had a 100 percent membership.

Jim Lumber emceed the program at the annual Antioch Chamber of Commerce's installation dinner. The past president Jay Dziki handed over the gavel to new president Don Walsh.

Bill Brook and Harry Stern were busy ice fishing and getting in practice for the annual NICC Ice Fishing Derby on the Chain O'Lakes.

The Emmons Grade School cagers were leading the Big Six Conference.

A four bedroom, two story home on Lake Mary in Twin Lakes was advertised for $53,000.

Some 100 sled dogs on 10 teams pulled sleds over the Chain O'Lakes ice during the annual NICC Ice Fishing Derby.

Sequoit cager Mark Andrews was doing his coaching dad, Roger, proud on ACHS's basketball floor.

Janet Lubkeman and Richelle Radke were two of the ACHS rollers on the high school's bowling team that was first team in area to send girls to state bowling tourney.

St. Peters church building was shown in the newspaper as one of Lake County's historical sites.

The Behren, Zeien, Lemke, Bailey, Marcussen, Gossman, Baker, Waters, and Enzenbacher families enjoyed the winter carnival held by the Bi-State Trailblazers Snowmobile Club.

Steve McQueen and Dustin Hoffman were appearing at area movie theaters in "Papillion."

10 YEARS AGO; Jan. 25, 1979

ACHS student Sue Harrison was trying for a berth on the Olympic swim team. The Blizzard of '79 had already cost the Village of Antioch $17,000 for snow removal.

The Antioch Teachers' Assn. and the Dist. 34 Grade School Board of Education had already been in teacher contract negotiations for 10 months and were headed for federal mediation.

Jim Bucar was undergoing a winter survival experience by spending four days with other students in Wisconsin's north woods.

Bill Patterson passed the gavel of the president of Antioch's Chamber of Commerce to Bill Bishoff of the now defunct Western Tire Store.

"Ice Castles" was playing at the local cinema.

Ken Smouse was directing the comic mystery "Something's Afoot," at PM&L.

During the month of January, the first graders will learn about birds that spend the winter with us. The first bird they will be studying is the beautiful cardinal. In the area of mathematics, the first grade is learning to not only count by ones, but also twos, fives, and 10's.

They are also practicing how to make change and are working on addition and subtraction facts up to 18. Whoever said it was easy being six-years-old evidently wasn't talking about these hard working first graders at Emmons School.

Have you always wanted to learn how to play a musical instrument? Now is your chance to learn and you can do so at Lakes Area Music Center located on Main St., in downtown Antioch.

They have six teachers on staff to teach various band instruments, piano, guitar, and percussion instruments. If you'd like to improve your singing ability, they also offer voice instruction.

They are planning to expand to the lower level in early Spring in order to accommodate more lessons and eliminate over crowding. They also sell sheet music, band instruments, guitars, and electronic keyboards.

The AWANA Program, held at the Antioch Evangelical Free Church, located on the corner of Tiffany and Highview, is for ages three years through eighth grade. The program is a three-part program build around the concept of "Body, Mind, and Soul".

The youngsters play games, sing songs, hear devotional stories, and memorize scriptures. The program is open to all youngsters in this age group. They do not have to belong to the church in order to attend. Meetings are on Wednesday evenings from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. For further information call the church office any morning at (312)395-4117. Anita Brant is in charge of the AWANA Program.

Just a little question and reminder for Frank Walsh, Sr. Are you watching your calendar in anticipation of the springtime elections? Frank, remember I do "not" drink. Does that mean we will be opponents again? Dee Samson tells me you are reading my articles. Therefore, I have a friendly message for you and the Mrs. I think you both of March and well into April. Let me know when you are leaving and I'll be glad to plan the "Bon Voyage" party. Get the kids?

thieves on cop radio tip

A Round Lake Beach and a Park City man were arrested for theft by Antioch Police following up on a tip overheard during a Lindenhurst police call.

Arrested last Thursday were Robert Goorioso, 20, Round Lake Beach and Daryl L. Wickersheim, 17, Park City.

The two are accused of breaking car windows in an Antioch apartment building's parking lot and stealing three radar detectors from inside.

Lindenhurst supplied the break in the case when it broadcast that three detectors had been recovered and could not be explained by the driver in a routine stop of a van.

Goorioso and Wickersheim have been charged with three counts each of burglary to auto and criminal damage and released on $50,000 recognizance bonds.

Arrest thieves

Thanks to a tip that two stolen snowmobiles would be brought through town, the Antioch Police Dept., after stopping a vehicle pulling a trailer with two snowmobiles on it for having only one tail light, found that the snowmobiles were listed as stolen by the Lake County Sheriff's Dept. Charged with theft over $300 and possession of stolen goods were Kevin Dodd, 22, Antioch and Troy Vandervest, Ingleside.

Warren big game for Antioch's boys

The Antioch boys' varsity basketball team plays host to the Warren Blue Devils in a crucial North Suburban Conference (NSC) matchup tonight starting at 7:30 p.m. in the North Gym.

The Sequoits are coming off a split weekend, while the Blue Devils are on a roll after defeating Zion-Benton and Libertyville in successive outings last weekend.

Going into tonight's action, Antioch is 7-9 overall and 4-4 in the NSC. Warren, on the other hand, posts an impressive 7-1 record in the conference and 12-3 overall.

The Sequoits must win this game to have a chance at finishing near the top of the conference.

After beating Fenton last Friday by a score of 41-38, the Sequoits had a chance to pick up some ground on the second place Zee Bees Saturday. But it was to no avail as the Sequoits went down by a score of 56-39.

Antioch started off good with a 12-9 advantage after one period and a 23-22 edge at the half, but that's where the good part ended as the second half belonged to Zion. man to score in double figures for Antioch.

Starters Scott Gooch and Matt Pelland both fouled out in the second half. Antioch only made 11 of 20 free throw attempts, while Zion made 19 of 25.

The ZeeBees outscored Antioch 10-6 in the third stanza to take a 32-29 lead going into the final quarter of play. Then the wheels fell off as Zion whipped Antioch 24-10 in the final stanza to take a commanding lead and to win the game by 17 points.

One promising note for the Sequoits was the play of reserve Jeff Becker, who came off the bench to score 14 points. He was the only

Powles was also the president of the Antioch Fire Dept. and served as the first captain of the Antioch Rescue Squad. Powles, a retired United States Air Force lieutenant colonel, had served his country in three wars, WWI, WW2 and the Korean conflict.

He was also active in community affairs, having been a member of American Legion Post 748, the Sequoia Masonic Lodge.

He was an accountant at Rosing Ford and Drije Chevrolet in Antioch.

Wilton, Toft, trustees to draw for ballot spots

by GLORIA DAVIS

It looks like most of the candidates for the open positions on the Antioch Village Board on the April 4 ballot are anxious about the position of their names on the ballot.

Both announced candidates for mayor, incumbent Ray Toft and former mayor Robert Wilton were at the hall at 8:30 a.m. on Monday when it opened for petition filing.

Also on hand were incumbent trustees

Rod White, Vern Barnstable and Ron Cunningham.

Challengers Larry Hanson and Marilyn Shineflug were also at the hall bright and early.

Later in the day Ed Koziorowski filed for trustee.

Since all but the last candidate filed at the same time, a lottery drawing for ballot positions will be held at 10 a.m., on Tuesday, Jan. 24, the day after the filing deadline, Monday, Jan. 23.

St. Peters looks for donors

St. Peter Catholic Church members invite community residents to join them on Saturday, Jan. 28 for a parish blood drive. The drive, from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., will be held in the church gym, 557 W. Lake Ave., Antioch. Chairperson Ellen Ipsen urges eligible donors to walk in and donate.

To be eligible to donate blood, LifeSource reports, an individual must be in good health, weigh at least 110 pounds and be at least 17 years of age. It is important to eat a good meal before donating. Blood donations can be given once every 56 days.

President Reagan has declared January as National Volunteer Blood Donor Month to thank Americans who support the blood program and to encourage everyone who is eligible to give the gift of life. LifeSource asks you to help avert a critical blood shortage and donate blood now during National Volunteer Blood Donor Month.

This blood drive is held in support of LifeSource. LifeSource was formed in January, 1987, when the Blood Center of Northern Illinois and the American Red Cross established a joint venture.

Snowmobile just misses big races

Nielsen Enterprises of Lake Villa made the final field of the world championship of snowmobile racing last weekend in Eagle River, Wis., for the 10th consecutive year.

Brad Hulings of Rockford, Mich., drove this year's machine. He won what is considered the Indianapolis 500 of snowmobile racing in 1981 and 1983.

The Lake Villa snowmobile dealership won the Eagle River derby in 1984 with a machine driven by Jim Dinnerman.

For Nielsen Enterprises he drove a twin track Skidoo with a 95 horsepower, 340 cc engine.

Hulings placed third in the initial qualifying race on Jan. 13 with a time of 37.85 seconds and was in a second-place qualifying position the next day when a tie rod broke, leading to an accident. The resulting shoulder injury kept him out of the finals on Jan. 15.

Record speed this year was 37.69 seconds set by Dave Wahl. This is slightly better than last year's record time of 37.70 seconds.

The race machine and a backup one were tested on the ice of Cedar Lake in Lake Villa before leaving for Eagle River. The Eagle River race is run on a banked track of ice. Snowmobiles use tracks with special ice cleats to hold their position on the track.

Board meets

The Antioch High School Board meets on the third Thursday of the month.

Commission endorses Rte. 53 extension

The Lake County Economic Development Commission has voted to endorse the Ill. Dept. of Transportation's (IDOT) proposed extension of Rte. 53. IDOT wants to bring the expressway across Lake-Cook Rd. and northward through portions of Long Grove, Hawthorn Woods and Mundelein. It would then connect to Rte. 120 at Grayslake.

The commission conducted a public meeting in November during which the pros and cons of the Rte. 53 extension were aired before some one hundred persons.

Libertyville, Vernon Hills and Buffalo Grove have gone on record favoring the expressway extension, while the villages of Mundelein and Long Grove disapprove.

Proponents say there is a need for a new highway to relieve congestion on existing roads carrying local traffic. Opponents maintain that a new road will only create more problems.

Before the vote commissioners discussed the fact that Rte. 53 is part of a regional corridor plan through DuPage and Will Counties, and the Ill. Tollway Authority is studying the possibility of making it a toll highway. If the Authority were to build the extension, it would prevent diversion of state road building funds from maintenance and other projects locally.

In voting to endorse the state's plan regarding Rte. 53, the Commission recognizes the need to accommodate the large number of people currently using existing roads and the anticipated increase in traffic due to commercial, industrial and residential growth expected in the six-county area over the next few years.

In other action, the Economic Development Commission also passed a resolution supporting the extension of the Lakefront Hwy. from the Tri-State Tollway through North Chicago and Waukegan. The resolution had been held up for months in order to allow the city of North Chicago to negotiate changes in the proposed route, particularly in the downtown business district. These differences are being resolved between IDOT and North Chicago.

The resolution says the Lakefront Hwy. will provide the impetus for creation of new job opportunities and is a key to future development of the lakefront area, representing an economic revival.

The management plans to expand into related consulting areas. Rich, the president of Bit 7, said the company has taken 1,800 square feet of space to house a rapidly growing consulting staff. He said the initial employees were with Edax International, but chose not to move when the company switched operations from the midwest to the east coast. One of the exciting new services provided by Bit 7 is surface mount technology, which he said offers many advantages compared with present circuit board assembly.

*BJ's Patterson:
follow dreams
and persevere*

by KIMBERLY BOLTON

Bill Patterson, owner of BJ's Fashions and BJ's Sports Center on Main St., is among the few whose lives take a definite direction from the time they are children.

"As a young boy, I had three ambitions in life. The first was to become a supervisor or manager. The second, to own and operate my own clothing store and the third, to become a teacher or social worker to work with young groups," he said.

Patterson, an energetic man in his early 50s, has already achieved all three. "I feel I've been sort of lucky," he said.

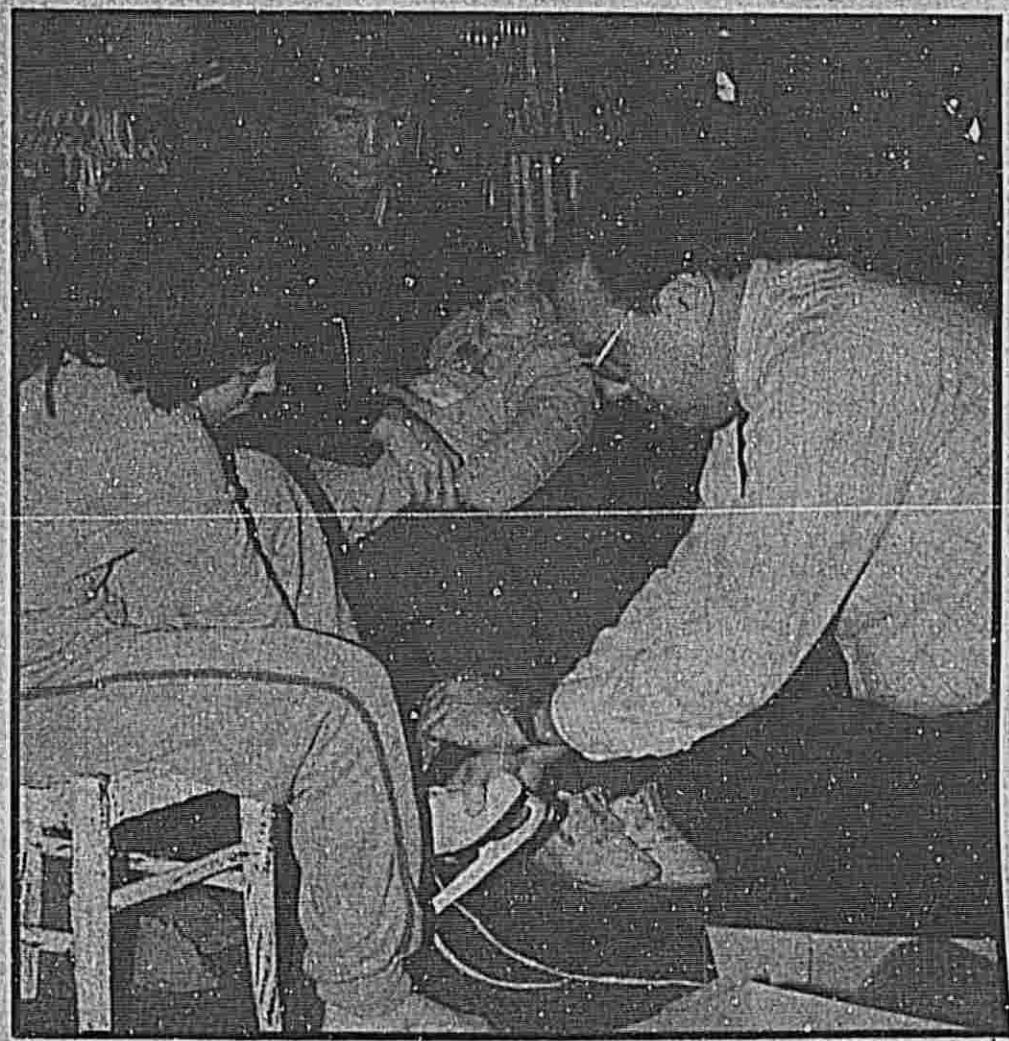

Luck may have played a part, but ambition is what made the man. Patterson did not come from a wealthy family. In fact, he remembers winters when his home was so cold that he was happy to go to his warm school. Being poor, he said, gave him the ambition to want more from life, to strive for better things.

Patterson said he had a fascination and a great appreciation for clothing that stemmed from not having a lot of it as he was growing up. A new shirt was very important to the meticulous boy and even though he didn't get them often, he took great care of them when he did. "As a young man, I was very meticulous. Everything had to be in the right place, in the right way. Clothes fascinated me," he said.

At 13, Patterson began his retail clothing career at Moscan's in Waukegan and later moved to Stem's. He graduated in high school in 1954 and not only was chosen "best dressed" there, but also won two Chicago Tribune awards for neatest officer as a lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserves.

After high school, Patterson decided it was time to pursue his second goal of working in management and landed a supervisor of shipping position with Outboard Marine Corp.'s Johnson Motors Div. in Waukegan. He worked for Johnson for 16 years in which time he opened an ice cream and sandwich shop, but in 1968 decided to get back to his first love, clothing retail.

Patterson's first clothing store was in Zion and sold women's apparel. He was a partner in the business and said owning the women's store was difficult for two men at that time explaining that there were matters that needed to be handled by a woman. For example, the store had an extensive lingerie department and he had to be careful not to hire saleswomen with the perfect bra size because they would be intimidating to customers. He also couldn't enter that department while customers were there after being warned by the salesperson that an embarrassed woman shopping for bras was upset by his presence.

The partnership eventually dissolved and BJ's Fashions was opened in 1972 as a contemporary, men's clothing store in Antioch. Patterson's merchandise is all bought from high-quality, upscale and designer manufacturers. Patterson said the contemporary styles take him out of competition with local outlets and traditional stores.

Larry Hanson, BJ's full-time manager, chooses the styles at clothing shows to which he travels. Patterson said that the clothes are high quality, upscale. One of the Mondo hand-knit Italian sweaters he carries was seen on the TV show, "My Two Dads." "We discovered that if we were able to be successful in business, we had to be different," he said.

The early '70s was not only the time Patterson chose to meet his second goal in life, but also his third. He was able to work with and teach young groups through Junior Achievement of Lake County. This non-profit organization (continued on page 12)

Stylist opens salon, attains dream

Donette La Londa, a Lake County beautician in the field for 17 years, has attained her lifelong dream by opening her own business in Lindenhurst.

Donette said she finally decided to follow her dream and open Le' Salon after her daughter, Renée, became a stylist. Renée, who has been in the hair business for four years, said it was never her intention to follow her mother's footsteps, but that she simply decided to go into a field that comes naturally to her.

"I'm a very picky person in the way I look. Cleanliness, hygiene and nice hair are important to me. That's why I decided to go into this business," Renée said.

Le' Salon, located on East Grand Ave., is decorated solely in black and white with a checkered floor—a look that Donette said was always part of the dream.

"It's a neat place. When customers come in their usual comment is, 'I'm impressed,'" Donette said.

Le' Salon is now offering haircutting, styling, perming and coloring, but will soon be a complete service shop when the La Londs add a nail technician.

helps high-school students learn about business by setting up their own corporation. Patterson devoted all of his free time then to helping his group with their telephone pad business and even hit the largest sales ever in Junior Achievement's history.

A past president of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce, Patterson believes that in order to be successful, a proprietor must be willing to put some profits back into the business. In his Antioch stores, he did this by twice expanding the clothing store and opening BJ's Sporting Goods in 1978. There is also some remodeling currently going on.

According to Patterson, people shop in downtown stores rather than malls simply for the service. He said he treats his customers like kings and queens and even offers a no-interest credit plan. As ambitious an entrepreneur Patterson is, his modesty does not allow him to take the credit for his success. "I would have to attribute my success to customers who keep coming back," he said.

SOMEDAY I'LL GROW UP

TO BE...

A CERTIFIED SCHOOL NURSE!!!

Times have changed!

People, especially women are choosing different professions from those of their parents. Nursing, secretarial, and teaching discipline choices are now giving way to decisions to become doctors, lawyers and engineers.

What's going on in our society? We're changing...adjusting...adapting to different goals and objectives. And yet, we're recognizing that, for many, there is more personal satisfaction in serving the physical and emotional health needs of our nation's youth than climbing a corporate ladder.

Take a certified school nurse for instance. In the state of Illinois there are approximately 927 certified school nurses employed in 4,220 schools serving the health needs of approximately 1,811,446 youths between the ages of 3 and 21.

Few people realize being a certified school nurse takes special preparation... more than four years of college classroom and on the job experience. It also takes determination. Certification calls for a minimum of a bachelors degree plus specific educational courses and an internship under an experienced certified school nurse. Many school nurses also have advanced degrees and continue to take classes for professional growth. It takes dedication!

So, what does a certified school nurse do with all of this education and experience? They help protect your child's health. They do first aid & emergency care. They do health histories, screenings & assessments. They provide health education and health counseling. They are advocates in schools to guarantee that someone is monitoring youth's health needs. School nurses promote the concept of mental and physical wellness. SCHOOL NURSES CARE!

Societal changes continue to adversely affect the world our youth live in. Divorce - single parent families - latch key kids - poor nutrition - drugs - school drop outs - abuse - AIDS - alcoholism - teen age pregnancy - depression - suicide! This is the reality of today!

School nurses play multiple roles in assisting children. They are often an integral link between recognition of a child's problem and possible resolution. School nurses are skilled, caring professionals who contribute daily to the protection of our children. The task is endless!

If your child grows up to be a certified school nurse, they will offer more to society than most people realize!

Mallard Ridge grand opening unveils success

Grand opening ceremonies were held Jan. 12 to commemorate the completion of apartment models at Mallard Ridge, a 95-acre community of 204 apartments and 122 sites for custom homes on Munn Rd. in Lindenhurst.

David Hoffman, president of Red Seal Development Corp., developer of Mallard Ridge, welcomed guests at the event, which marked the opening of the first multi-family development to be built in Lindenhurst. Among the invited guests were village and Lake County officials, as well as local business owners.

"We are not only celebrating the debut of Mallard Ridge Apartments, but their success as well," Hoffman said.

Each of the buildings in the new development will have 12 apartments, one- and two-bedroom units, and deluxe two-bedroom apartments with two baths. Living area of the apartments range from 820 to 1,170 square feet and rents begin at $595 a month. Following the grand opening, the first 50 renters will receive one month's free rent and $200 toward moving expenses. Some Mallard Ridge units are designed for handicapped residents.

Hoffman praised the efforts of the Homewood-based Linden Group, architects of Mallard Ridge Apts., and the interior design created by Jean Lee Design of Buffalo Grove.

"The design goes beyond the typical apartment features. Instead, it achieves a style similar to that of a detached single-family home," Hoffman said. "Features such as bay windows and volume ceilings make Mallard Ridge special."

Landscaping and the arrangement of apartments and homesites are designed to complement the natural setting of Mallard

A central feature of the community is a private 5-1/2-acre park for Mallard Ridge residents. The park has two tennis courts, a regulation-size baseball field, basketball court, jogging trail and winter ice skating rink.

Current development at Mallard Ridge also includes the first phase of 61 custom home sites, most of which are fully wooded or overlook water. Lots range in size from 9,100 to 19,036 square feet and average approximately 12,000 square feet. Homesite prices begin at $35,500.

All lots are fully improved with paved streets and utility lines, and homesites are individually marked to facilitate selection by prospective buyers. Prices of homes are expected to range from $175,000 to $225,000.

Planned for future development are a shopping center and a 36,000-square-foot office complex.

Consulting firm sets up shop in Lincolnshire

Friedman, Eisenstein, Racmer & Schwartz (FERS), one of Chicago's largest business and financial consulting firms, has leased 11,158 square feet to open its third office at Hawthorn Realty Group's Tri-State International Office Center in Lincolnshire. Tri-State International is a joint venture development between Hawthorn Realty Group and New York Life.

FERS has over 250 employees with additional offices in Chicago and Rolling Meadows. The new Lincolnshire office will initially open with 25 employees transferred from other offices, with plans to add 25 new employees within a year.

"Tri-State is a great office location, both in terms of potential new business and for recruiting. The Lincolnshire area offers a wealth of talented professionals who want to live and work in the same area," said Eric Lundstrom, the FERS partner supervising suburban operations.

Tri-State International Office Center is a mixed-use development located on the southwest corner of Rte. 22 and the Tri-State Tollway. Phase I of the project includes three office buildings totaling 350,000 square feet, a 126-suite Hawthorn Suites Hotel, a theatre-style auditorium, fitness center, and Gulliver's Cafe & Deli.

Septic haulers face Feb. 1 cut-off date

by JOSEPH SOULAK

Septic tank haulers throughout Lake County—particularly those in the southern portion—are reevaluating their fees and future.

As of Feb. 1 they no longer can dump at the Fox River Grove treatment plant in McHenry County. The plant is rapidly reaching capacity and septic tank effluent only adds to the load.

Septic tank haulers have not been allowed to dump at treatment plants in Lake County for almost a decade. This is because other customers served by the regional plants pay a user fee. Septic tank owners and haulers do not.

Most haulers in the northern half of Lake County take the effluent across the state line. Some goes to treatment plants. The remainder is used for farm field application where animal food crops are grown.

Only Lake County residents with septic tanks with effluent that can be treated locally live in the North Shore Sanitary Dist. The service area for the Waukegan plant is west to the Tri-State Tollway. Residents of the district pay a tax instead of a user fee, which entitles them to this service.

An average septic tank, which should be pumped every two to three years, contains 100,000 to 150,000 gallons.

This effluent can be dumped at the North Shore plant at cost of $39 per 1,000 gallons. Rate in the south end of the county can run $100 per pumping. Those in the north half pay $50 to $60, mainly because of the proximity to a Wisconsin disposal site.

Lake County also stopped accepting septic tank effluent for other reasons. Among them is the necessary dump facilities plus the manpower to monitor each truck. Also, most plants are rapidly reaching capacity with increased hookups of new businesses and homes.

"Then there is the effluent itself," said Colin Thacker, environmental health director for the Lake County Health Dept. "Some types of septic wastes are virtually untreated," he said of temporary concrete holding tanks often installed in winter months as a temporary measure. "It requires more to treat this kind of waste."

Norman Geary, chairman of the Lake County Board, agreed the problem is both a public service and a health problem. The two board committees concerned with those areas were scheduled to meet this week in hopes of arriving at a solution. If not, they will continue working up to the Feb. 1 cut-off date imposed by Fox River Grove.

The Vernon Hills treatment plant, which is operated under contract with Lake County, might be one possibility. It, too, must be expanded because it is at capacity. That will not be completed for at least two years.

The Northeast Regional Plant at Fox Lake is also at capacity.

Off-limits is a plant at Gurnee that pre-treats effluent from western communities that eventually goes to the North Shore Plant. The Des Plaines River treatment plant in southeast Lake County is also closed to septic haulers.

"This is one of the problems of growth," said Geary.

Attack deficit—now!

In the coming months, Americans may be asked to tighten their belts a bit and dig down for a tax bite needed to deal with the continued slide toward crisis brought about by our nation's nightmarish budget deficit.

We think Americans would be willing to do their part to deal with the deficit—cough up additional taxes—if the federal government will do its part to cut back spending and invoke other deficit busting programs necessary to bring the United States back to a sound financial footing and end our status as a debtor nation. In our corner of the world where many are enjoying the prosperity of a boom economy and things are good for most, a tax increase can be handled.

Much as inflation of the late 1970's brought down the presidency of Jimmy Carter, the deficit bugaboo is sure to haunt George Bush from his first day in the Oval Office and possibly limit him to one term. America was able to conquer inflation. So must we conquer the deficit.

Washington must cut expenditures and raise taxes. The place to start is entitlements (45 percent of federal expenditures) and defense (25 percent). Social Security has to be overhauled without denying the elderly. New defense weapons and strategies have to be developed. We can't look at military spending with a World War II mentality.

Entitlements and defense. That's where the big bucks are, not nickle-and-dime programs like foreign aid and help for the needy. Maintaining conventional forces in Europe costs $150 billion a year, about half of all Defense Dept. spending. This can be cut without endangering national safety.

George Bush can secure a second term and a place in history by exerting the leadership needed to put budget deficits on the run. We don't know if the politicians are ready to do this, but we think the people are.

TOO HOT TO HANDLE

Pointing the finger

County Board members addressing a throng of 300 persons turned out to protest construction of Rte. 53 left no doubt as to whom they think will call the march on whether the proposed limited access superhighway will be built. They pointed the finger directly at Lake County's legislative delegates in the General Assembly.

State Sen. David Barkhausen (R-Lake Forest) was the only state official attending the meeting held in Lake Zurich and remained non-committal about the controversial roadway in his remarks. He offered an interesting suggestion. Barkhausen introduced the idea that municipalities be given veto power in controversial highway construction plans.

Dist. 6 County Board Rep. Bruce Hansen seized the opportunity to put the Rte. 53 question in focus as far as opponents are concerned. Hansen told Barkhausen that he received big voter support in the past in Cuba and Ela Townships, but not to expect support in the future unless he comes out against Rte. 53.

To our knowledge, only two legislators have expressed themselves on Rte. 53. State Rep. Robert Churchill (R-Lake Villa) is for the road and State Rep. John Matijevich (D-Waukegan) is against it. Mayor Colin McRae of Mundelein related an anecdote showing that decisions on big highway projects are made in the high level political arena. Dist. 3 County Board Rep. John Balen advised Rte. 53 opponents to "keep the pressure on" political leaders. Clearly, other members of the county's Springfield contingent will be called upon soon to take a stand on the highway that will use up 10,000 acres of open space if built from its terminus now at the Lake-Cook county line to a point south of Grayslake.

Rte. 53 is going to be a hard issue to duck.

Viewpoint

Smoke-free atmosphere being enjoyed

by BILL SCHROEDER

This newspaper and its sister publications joined the ranks of non-smoking companies when the calendar flipped over for a new year.

Even for a non-smoker, but a guy who's spent his entire working life in smoke-clouded newsrooms, the impending change was fraught with trauma, but the new policy is working out well so far. Lakeland Newspaper staffers, even the smokers, are supporting the change.

Moving toward a smoke-free environment didn't happen overnight. First we got rid of the cigarette vending machine. Then Lakeland Newspaper managers met with employees to discuss health and safety reasons for eliminating smoking. Last fall, a designated smoking area was established and smokers supplied, at their own expense, smokeless ashtrays. Literature from the American Lung Assn. and the American Cancer Society was distributed. A health insurance representative counseled, where necessary.

The transition was smooth and orderly. We're proud of the way Lakeland Newspaper employees responded.

Cost of the tobacco-related illnesses and economic costs of smoking are mind-numbing. Dr. Bernard J. Turnock, director of the Illinois Dept. of Public Health, reported that a recent study showed 15,668 Illinois residents died in 1985 from smoking-attributable cases of cancer, heart and respiratory diseases and other illnesses directly related to smoking.

With the avalanche of statistics recounting the dangers of smoking, it's a wonder more companies don't take the step toward a smoke-free environment. Visions of reporters with cigarettes dangling from their lips, secretaries and sales persons puffing away at their desks are only memories now.

CAL. CLONE---Swear it. Florida gets more like California all the time. Six lane super highways are clogged all hours of the day and most of the night. And now the grid-locked highways are being doubled decked.

Zany laws aren't a California monopoly. A new Florida law prohibits school kids from selling candy to raise money. But it's legal to carry guns. The Broward County sheriff was threatened by a witless judge with being tossed in his own jail because he was pinching too many drug pushers.

Are things getting too crowded in the Land of Sunshine? An angry 88-year-old caned two roommates to death after an argument in the 9 x 10 room they shared in a Dade City rest home for senior citizens.

Other observations gleaned during a short holiday visit to one of the nation's fastest growing states: Florida still is the land of eternal youth. Supermarket bag boys all are at least retirement age. There really are alligators on Florida golf courses. I woke up a dozing gator on the 16th green of Boca Raton Country Club with an errant chip shot. The old boy gave me a wary eye and I hit my best drive of the day off the 17th tee. Rangers aren't required to keep play moving.

TOUCH OF HUMOR---Village Manager Mike Ellis of Grayslake is chuckling over efforts of some county leaders to contain growth. Of approximately 400 new housing units built in 1988 in the 60030 zip code area (principally Grayslake and Wildwood-Gages Lake), 75 percent were permits issued by the County Building Dept. Grayslake had 92 units. "Who's kidding who about growth?" Ellis asked.

MODERN---Call Police Chief Gary Kupsak of Lindenhurst a modern law enforcement executive. He's upfront about proclaiming that fighting crime is a small(er) part of a suburban police department's mission, an estimated 15 to 20 percent. "Perpetuating the crime fighting image is a disservice to the profession of law enforcement," he exclaims matter-of-factly. Kupsak served on the Wilmette and Vernon Hills police departments before taking over as Lindenhurst chief five years ago.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY---Bob proved that recycling beverage cans is worthwhile. He turned in our household's summer and fall accumulation for a $21 profit toward second semester books. The secret to successful recycling is leaving the cars parked outside the garage so there's plenty of room for empties.

Letters To The Editor

The way to win

Editor:

Linda Hess criticized the Woodland School for having a referendum election as the sole item when that referendum could have been included in another election date. Three other districts are doing the same.

But what Linda Hess does not say is that is the way to win the referendum. There is nothing illegal. But if you want to win something, you make certain as possible to get only your people out to vote and to figure that others will not take the time to get involved.

Here is the lesson in winning with the least amount of voter turnout. You do not publicize it. You do not present opposite views. You organize your own groups of interested voters. You get their teachers to promote the referendum to the Woodland students. You send home information papers on why the parents should get out and vote. You make certain that the day before the voting date that all the parents are given a final push to vote for the increased tax.

The Woodland district is smart politically. It is a great lesson to teach the children. I wonder if the rest of us who will pay the bill if the referendum passes will applaud the Woodland District. It reminds me a little of the way the Chicago City Council does things, but always within the law. Good ethics and an example by which to live a high, moral life. I wonder.

Students brainwashed

Editor:

A "special natural science project" was recently performed by the seventh graders at Lake Villa Intermediate School. The project, the Plight of the Ryerson Conservation Area, purportedly "studied the problem of deer overpopulation and the resulting destruction of too many plants". Under the "guidance" of their teachers and Ryerson naturalists, the students are said to have concluded that "to save the overall community of flora and fauna at Ryerson, the deer herd must be reduced in numbers through controlled killing".

Any thoughtful person familiar with the Ryerson issue should question the motives of the naturalists involved. If they are trying to polish up a somewhat tarnished image vis-a-vis their position on the deer dilemma, they are doing so at the total sacrifice of the educational process. The Ryerson issue is controversial. Part, if not the essence, of education is to provide students with a methodology for making considered judgments on controversial matters. This process entails listening to, and analyzing the soundness of arguments for and against particular positions.

Were the Lake Villa students who "studied" the problem given this opportunity? I think not. Were they told that nationally known environmental experts from the Humane Society of the United States disagree with local officials, that after an on-site inspection these experts described the ecological damage as "minimal"? Were the students told that deer numbers could be effectively and humanely reduced now by the translocation (as practiced by the Schlitz Audubon Sanctuary in Milwaukee) and to

by JOSEPH SOULAK

In Shields Twp. the name Fitzgerald is synonymous with public service.

Best known, loved and remembered is Barry Fitzgerald, who retired eight years ago after something like 20 years as assessor. Barry was extremely active in the Republican party many of those years.

So was the entire family going back to Charles Fitzgerald Sr., who settled in Lake Forest in 1875. That was before anyone knew where Lake Forest was.

His son, Barry, had a place in Market Square selling beer, ice cream, soda, newspapers and magazines. When the village fathers decided in the late 1950s to improve the image of downtown, they refused to renew his beer license. So Barry went to school and became township assessor for 20 years. Now 78, he is alive and well, and living in Lake Forest.

Barry's brother, Charles Jr., joined him in the assessor's office when he retired from the plumbing profession. So did Charles' wife, Lillian.

Charles Fitzgerald III followed his father as plumber for 38 years. When Sup. Howard Monroe retired two years ago the younger Fitzgerald gave up plumbing for the political world. Now, he is leading the Regular Shields Party on the April ballot. "I like the idea of a third generation Fitzgerald in township office," he said.

Looking for a break from the midwinter blahs? Mark Saturday, Feb. 11. That's the date of the annual Lincoln Day dinner and dance sponsored by the Grant Twp. precinct committeemen. It will be at Marcella's restaurant, Rte. 59 and Grand Ave.

This week is a big one in Washington, D.C. It is the inauguration of the 41st president of the United States.

More than a few people from Lake County have added their Republican presence to the scene. Naturally, there have been a few parties and a gala or two, including the gigantic inaugural ball.

Yes, it's tough work. Somebody has to do it. Doing the job for Round Lake Park are Chief of Police John Robinson and insurance man Clarence Malloy.

"We'll be there as members of the Round Lake Park Airport Comm.," Robinson said on behalf of himself and the chairman of a body working for two years to acquire Campbell Airport. He said 90 percent federal grant money is available for such an acquisition. First, Federal Aviation Administration approval is needed.

"With all of the congressmen and decision makers in town for the week this is an ideal time to talk to them," Robinson said. "You and I know a personal visit is much better than all the letters in the world."

Incidentally, the trip will not cost the village one red, white or blue cent. At least not much more than a cup of coffee for a congressman or a bowl of famous Senate bean soup. Both are paying their own way.

In the race for Avon Twp. offices this spring is the Avon Good Government Party. It is led by 26-year incumbent Sup. Norman Geary of Grayslake

Barry Fitzgerald

William Thompson

Being fielded is a full slate of candidates from supervisor and assessor to clerk and trustee. It's a prolific slate. The eight candidates list a total of 35 children and slightly fewer grandchildren.

Bragging rights for the largest tax dependent pack goes to high-way commissioner candidate Douglas Roberts. He and his wife, Peggy, have 12 children.

It must be the water.

Newly-elected Dist. 4 County Board member Suzi Schmidt of Lake Villa is among the most popular unpopular persons around. But she won enough votes in last year's County Board race to unseat the popular Fred Popp.

Opposed to her election were mayors Robert Raich of Lindenhurst and Joyce Frayer of Lake Villa. Against her on environmental grounds was Mayor Carl Schrimpf of Round Lake Beach.

Latest to join her "fan" club is Mayor

Ed Schroeder of Grayslake. His concern is the company Schmidt keeps. The diminutive gal with the flashing eyes is a protege of County Board Chairman Norman Geary of Grayslake.

About the only thing Schroeder and Geary have in common is they both live in the same village.

Retired Lake County Supt. of Schools William "Bill" Thompson is a down-to-earth guy.

Now serving a temporary stint as superintendent of North Chicago schools, the grandfatherly Thompson is knee-deep in alligators. He is trying to make lemonade out of the financial lemon he inherited.

Called the other day for information on the school's smoking policy, he brushed off a reporter by saying: "I'm too old for that stuff."

given by the hopeful candidates for Wauconda elections in the spring. I hope all citizens of this lovely, friendly community will take this opportunity to address the issues of environment and growth.

We are on the leading edge of expansionism, with developers eagerly seeking ways to increase their income, eyeing every acre of vacant land with the single purpose of personal gain. We owe them nothing.

Back off. Take a good hard look at every intrusion these outsiders propose to our comfortable village.

When I plead, "Don't sell your soul," I mean the nature God gave us: the trees that are here to clean our air, regulate our temperatures, stabilize our soil, protect, feed and house our precious wildlife.

From every angle, consider the future. Fight for your future, the quality of life you have so far enjoyed, and which should not be diminished in any way to accommodate any developer. Just think of the Schaumburg waste land, Lake Zurich's headaches, the devastation of the once beautiful Vernon Hills. Their enthusiasm for growth is catching up with them and people are finally seeing the light and calling "Foul".

Guard all of our natural resources; every tree is one of nature's most precious gifts. Developers should pay the price of steering hoards of additional people out here who will impact on our schools, roads, all the other municipal services, and environment. How can anyone argue they should not pay a price for this? If not them, than it will be us! It will all catch up to us, little by little, no matter what the argument; and we will eventually pay, one way or another.

Please, one and all, get personally involved, ask the hard questions, make the candidates give specific answers and commitments. Demand they be very selective. Pick and choose what is truly best for the citizens of Wauconda. Set high standards the developers must meet. Now is your chance to make your concerns known. Let the candidates have no doubts.

licensed private preserves which have been requesting white-tailed deer?

The article makes no mention of these valid counterpoints. One can only assume that the students were led to a desired conclusion; in other words they were brainwashed. The issue was not "studied", as the term is properly used nor were the "findings" of the students based on a through analysis of all the available information. For these reasons I submit that the Ryerson naturalists are making a mockery of our educational system!

Against acquisition

LINCOLNSHIRE--Morrie Bernstein and his wife, Dorothy, have held the dream of building their own home since 1956, but the Village of Lincolnshire will put an end to this dream if they are successful in condemning the property. The village wishes to acquire all of the Bernstein's land, about 10 acres, and build a police station and village hall on about 1.38 of the acres, keeping the rest in open space. The village argues that the land is unsuitable for a single-family home, although Bernstein says the Army Corps of Engineers has said the site can be built upon.

Rte. 53 disclosures

MUNDELEIN--The Illinois Dept. of Transportation (IDOT) never told Village of Mundelein officials that plans for the proposed Rte. 53 extension were being resurrected, even when various permits were being sought for the development that now is Cambridge Country, according to Mayor Colin McRae. The extension would travel through an area of Cambridge Country that houses units built last year for a Parade of Homes event, and permission for an access road into that area of the subdivision was granted by IDOT. This approval was given despite their consideration of plans whereby a portion of the Rte. 53 extension would enter the same area as the access road.

Expand childcare

WAUKEGAN--The YWCA of Lake County is the recipient of a $15,000 grant from the State Dept. of Child and Family Services to expand its child care Resource and Referral Service in western Lake County. Child care providers are invited to attend the information meetings that will be held throughout Lake County. Child care providers can find training and assistance through the YWCA and parents can use the Resource and Referral Service as a source of help in seeking child care and how to determine what is good child care.

File candidacies

ANTIOCH--Long-time Antioch Twp. Sup. Jim Fields, former chairman of the Lake County Board, filed his candidacy papers to run for another term as Antioch Twp. supervisor. Fields has been in township office for 12 years. Also filing for the top township job is Frank Sullivan, spearheader of the Antioch Twp. Assn., group fighting for open space in the township. Both incumbent Mayor Ray Toft and former mayor and present trustee Robert Wilton filed for the office of mayor of Antioch in the spring election as the village hall opened on the first filing day.

Rejects license

GURNEE--Satisfied with the present ordinances, the Gurnee Village Board gave a negative response to a proposal for an amendment to the liquor license ordinance. The board heard for the second time in two months a bid from developers of a proposed shopping center at O'Plaine Rd. and Washington St. to allow a liquor license for a major tenant such as Walgreens.

Crowded race

PARK CITY--The race for the mayor's position in Park City promises to be one of the highlights of the April election. A lottery will be held on Jan. 23 to determine ballot positions for three candidates who filed at the same time Monday. Incumbent Virginia Kennedy, Robert Allen and Henry Wachowia filed their petitions.

Off and running

ROUND LAKE AREA--One slate, headed by Mayor Carl Schrimpf, has been filed in Round Lake Beach. Round Lake and Round Lake Park races are in full-swing with two full slates filing for municipal offices. Round Lake Heights has two independents, Sandra Morris and Madeline Romich, filing for mayor. Also on the April ballot will be two Dist. 116 referendums asking voters for an increase in the school district's tax rate.

Special workshops to discuss stormwater options

Special workshops on a countywide stormwater management program, geared to elected local officials in Lake County, are set for Jan. 26, 27, and 28. The workshops, sponsored by the Stormwater Management Planning Committee (SMPC), aim to introduce public representatives to alternative approaches to stormwater management and to seek local input on a final program format.

The small group workshops, following a Jan. 19 public meeting, will give attendees more in-depth information and allow greater participation. Sessions will focus on the four watersheds of Lake County as well as on countywide stormwater management issues. The Jan. 27 session (Lake Michigan and North Branch watersheds) will be held at the Public Safety Building, 45 E. Center Ave., Lake Bluff. On Jan. 28 at the College of Lake County, participants will discuss countywide stormwater issues as well as their local concerns.

The SMPC is a committee of elected municipal and county officials created under state legislation to develop a stormwater management plan for Lake County.

Last November, the County Board approved $408,350 for the program's planning phase.

The Jan. 27 and 28 sessions are from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and Jan. 29 from 9:00 a.m. to noon. Lunch will be provided immediately after each workshop. Lake County mayors, township supervisors and drainage district heads or their representatives are welcome, but RSVPs are required. Call the Lake County Dept. of Planning, Zoning and Environmental Quality, (312)360-6350.

Arbor Vista to fight annex

Arbor Vista residents have organized to fight the planned annexation of 26 acres at the southeast corner of Rtes. 45 and 120 to the Village of Grayslake.

A petition for annexation was presented to the Grayslake council by Atty. John Quinn, representing LaSalle National Bank, trustees for the unknown property owners who reportedly are interested in constructing a shopping center.

Joining with residents of the community of fine homes in unincorporated Warren Twp. off Rte. 45 are 33 owners of businesses in and around Grayslake.

If approved, the business area would be the second major commercial development at the intersection. Developer Esper Petersen already has building permits issued by Grayslake to start construction of a strip shopping center on the northeast corner of the intersection.

Petersen is a major builder in Warren Twp. and a resident of Warren.

Representing Arbor Vista residents, John Sander said the development plan "defies logic." He said there is no need and no justification for a commercial development.

Sander pointed to potential drainage problems that would endanger Arbor Vista's septic fields. He mentioned traffic congestion and high density problems that would detract from the character of the community, developed more than 25 years ago by Arthur McIntosh Co., pioneer Chicago developers.

Arbor Vista lies within the Grayslake Fire Protection Dist. and is served by the Grayslake Post Office. It is in the Woodland Elementary School Dist. and Warren Twp. High School.

Depression and Suicide in Children - Part II

Suicides among teenagers and young adults have increased dramatically in recent years. Currently suicide is the second leading cause of death for young people between the ages of 12 and 24. Teenagers are experiencing increasing pressures to mature quickly and to be successful, while managing the stress of confusion and self doubt which is a part of growing up. When the teenager feels he or she has no one to turn to for support and understanding, suicide can appear to be the only solution.

Parents should be aware of the following warning signs of adolescents who are significantly depressed and may attempt suicide:

- Noticeable changes in eating or sleeping habits, dress, energy level.
- Withdrawal from friends and family.
- Major personality changes like sadness, feelings of hopelessness and guilt.
- Concentration difficulties including a decline in school performance.
- Rebellious behavior.
- Substance abuse including drugs or alcohol.
- Verbal hints expressing a preoccupation with death or suicide.
- Previous suicide attempts.
- Chronic physical complaints such as headaches, stomachaches, feeling tired.

People often feel uncomfortable talking about death. However, if one or more of the above signs occurs, parents should talk to their child about their concerns. Rather than "putting thoughts into the child's head," asking your teen whether he or she is depressed or thinking about suicide provides assurance that somebody cares and is there to help.

Support from family and friends coupled with professional help can help suicidal youngsters get back on their developmental path. If you think your child or adolescent is experiencing suicidal thoughts or feelings, Lake-Cook Psychologists and Counseling Associates can help.

Film Review

by GLORIA DAVIS

"Accidental Tourist," which opened all around the country last week, is being hailed by some of the most prodigious critics as, if not the best movie of the year, one ranking high on the top 10 list.

There's absolutely no denying the artistry of this Lawrence Kasdan film about the meaning of relationships.

Just as kudos galore go to the cast headed by William Hurt, Kathleen Turner and Geena Davis, with Davis almost walking away with the picture.

Yet to many, including this reviewer, this can be one of those "great, great" pictures that calls more for appreciation than enjoyment, and many film goers (like this reviewer) might find much of Hurt's character, along with his boring family, to be real yawners at times.

This of course does not lessen Hurt's portrayal, he plays the very boring divorced man to the hilt.

And for us "normal" people, Hurt's two brothers and sister, who are still living together despite their middle age, with good old sis taking care of the boys, will draw a few yaks, especially when they don't answer the telephone "because a neighbor will come and get us if it's important." The filling of the groceries in alphabetical order in the kitchen cupboard also amuses, as does the family trait of not being able to find their way around the town they were born in.

Yes, the relationship between too orthodox, but almost nerd-like Hurt, and the kookie, unorthodox Davis, is a most moving one.

It's just that if one stops concentrating on analyzing the "great performances," the depth of the script, and the directing," and sits back expecting to enjoy the show, they just might find themselves asleep in their seats (like this reviewer).

This one can rate two or four stars depending on the viewer's mood and taste. It's a hard one to call, but we're sure you'll hear about "Tourist" a lot, especially around awards time, it's that kind of show.

Stage

Don't miss the musical biography of St. Francis of Assisi, "Francesco," directed by Lake County's own talented Ken Smouse and presented at St. Mary of the Lake University in Mundelein on Jan. 27 and 28 at 7:30 p.m., and on Jan. 29, at 2:30 p.m.

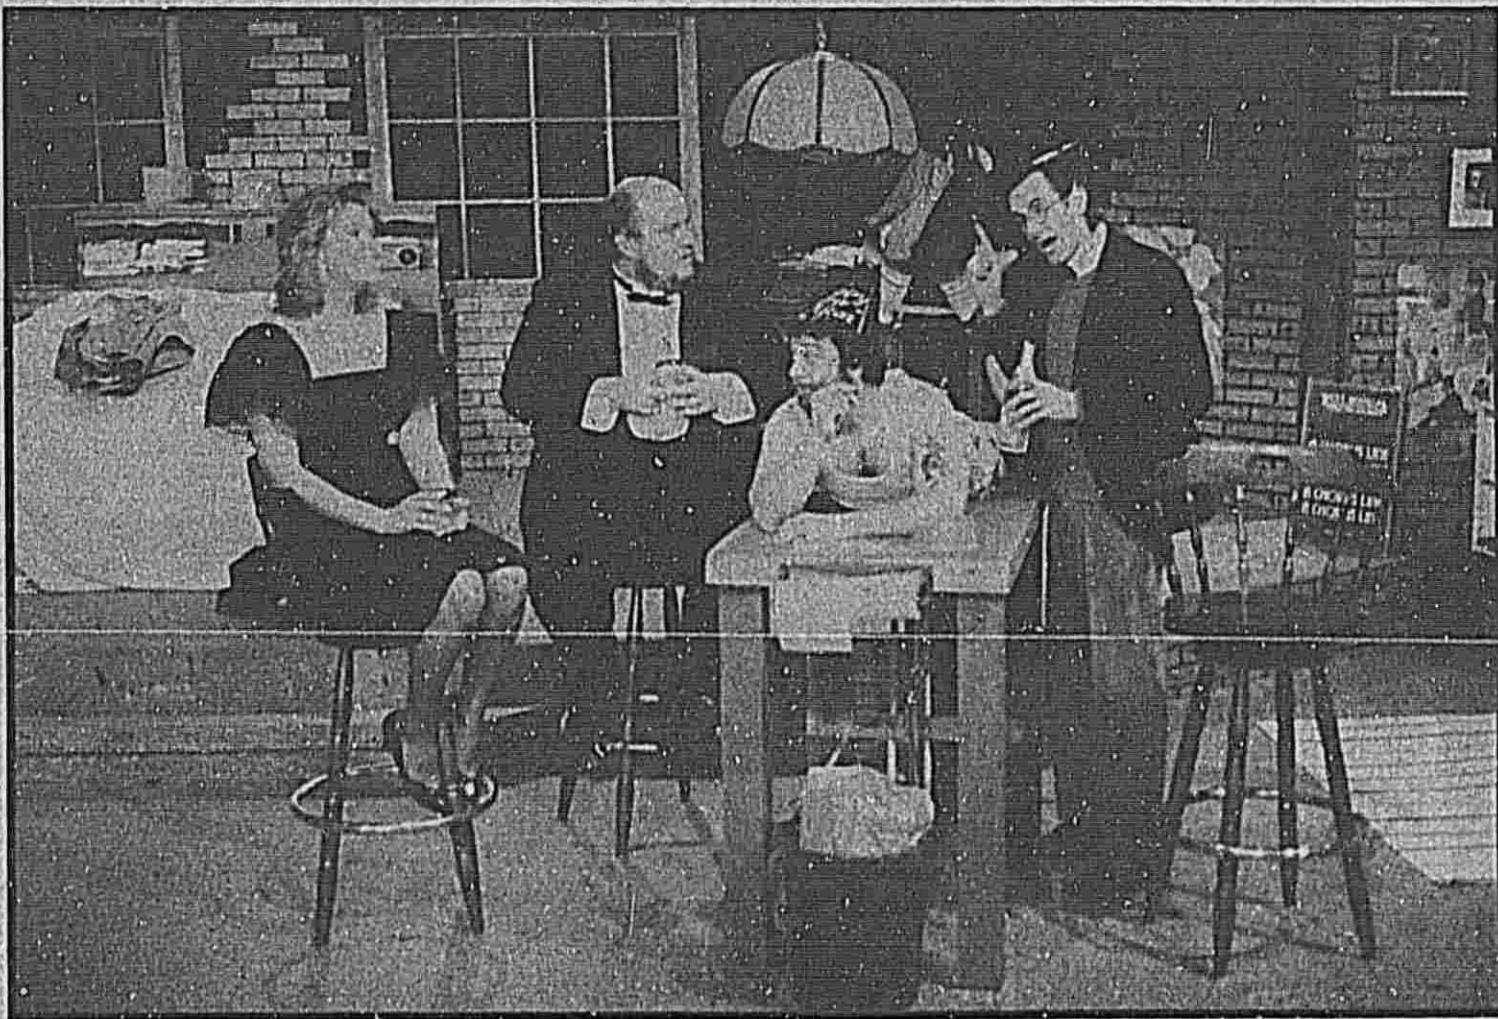

The Touchstone Theatre in Lake Forest is running a production about a musician's battle with multiple sclerosis. "Duet for One," will be on stage through Jan. 29.

"The Piano Lesson" will be playing at Chicago's famous Goodman Theatre through Feb. 18. This is one about family arguments over the fate of an antique upright piano.

The critically acclaimed "Driving Miss Daisy," starring Dorothy Loudon, is still a good bet at Chicago's Briar St. Theatre. Dinner theater arrangements can be made.

Be there!

Call (312)244-1660 for reservations for the Jack Benny Birthday Bash on Feb. 11 when comedian Bob McVilla and friends will show talents of bygone days.

Stage 2 does 'Cat' as season opener

"P.S. Your Cat is Dead," another original stage production by Bryan Simon and his Stage Two group, opened another theater season on Friday and will continue performances through this weekend.

Stage Two's resident theater has been Building 5 at the College of Lake County for the last two years.

Simon, who has spearheaded this adventure into offbeat drama since its inception in 1986, is experiencing a bit of success since all of the group's performances have been sold out in the last year.

The little theater in amongst the portable buildings on the college's campus, seats less than 100 but with most shows SRO, Simon is talking about adding midweek performances.

Norma Cribb of Waukegan directs "Cat," which shows a Broadway actor who loses his part in a play, comes home to find his girlfriend is taking off, and to top that his pet is seriously ill and a burglar is ready to rob him of his few worldly possessions.

Mark Kettner plays the actor, Simon, the burglar, and they become friends of sorts. Mary May of Chicago plays the girlfriend while her new boyfriend, is played by Richard French of Lake Villa.

Performances will still be held this weekend, Friday and Saturday and a matinee performance at 3 p.m., this Sunday.

Call (312)662-4071 for information and tickets.

Next August, Stage Two will be doing a repetition of a new set of trilogies which proved to be extremely successful this year.

Simon's off-beat musical opens Stage Two's season with another off-beat production, as "Cat" seems to run the lives of those involved.

Two new Lakeland cruises to sail

by DENNIS AND MARY O'BRIEN

You, the Lakeland Newspapers readers, have spoken — loudly and clearly.

You said in our survey mailing last July that you wanted to cruise to sunny Caribbean isles — or to the breathtaking coast of Alaska.

What to do when readers want two destinations? After duly pondering our dilemma, we resolved the quandary by deciding to offer cruises aboard luxury liners to both places.

Our publisher agreed, so we're back in the Lakeland Newspapers pages — refreshed after some trips to faraway places — eager to fill you in on last May's Lakeland Newspapers Cruise and, more importantly, on the future goodies we have lined up.

All indications were that the cruise to Mexico aboard the Stardancer was a success. Just to make sure, we mailed a survey to all those who took the cruise or inquired about it. The results: There were no negative comments. But positive ones abounded, like, "smashing," "we loved it," and "when's the next one?" Even this optimistic duo was surprised by the vociferous and positive response.

To the crucial survey question: Where would you like to go next? You answered, the Caribbean and Alaska.

So that's exactly where we are going. To the Caribbean aboard the Costa Riviera on June 10 and to Alaska aboard the Daphne on Sept. 15. So mark your calendars for one or both trips now.

We worked hard and long to find the best accommodations aboard the best ships at the best prices. And we sure we have succeeded in giving Lakeland Newspapers readers the "cruiser's edge" — with two seagoing adventures aboard two of the finest cruise ships afloat.

Witom cites improv group
See inside

In the coming weeks we will be filling you in on all the details of these two exciting Lakeland Newspapers Cruises and telling you about some of the other places we have been since the last cruise like New Zealand, Belfast, the Bahamas, Mexico and Spain.

Tiny Tot is a star

Selina Marie Spiller, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Spiller of 21063 Birch St., Lake Villa, is the new Little Miss Tiny Tot Star of Illinois.

She won the title in competition last month at the Belvidere Mall in Waukegan.

In winning the title she also won trophies for modeling sleepwear, sportswear, photography shot and overall points.

She now advances to the 1989 Baby Miss Illinois pageant next April in Rockford.

The two-year-old beauty was first runner-up in Little Miss Illinois competition last August in Northbrook. This advanced her to the national finals the same month in Hollywood.

Children watch as dad sworn in

Two people who did not previously have the opportunity to see their father, House Minority Whip Robert W. Churchill (R-Lake Villa), sworn into office got that chance Wednesday, Jan. 11.

Churchill was accompanied to Springfield for the swearing in ceremony by his wife Sandra and their two children, Abby, who will be two years old Jan. 16, and Julie, two months.

The House leader commented that he thinks it is more important for even young children to know where their father works and to get a feel for what he does, especially since the job of an Illinois legislator required lawmakers to be away from home for many months each year.

Churchill added that he believes he has the youngest Republican children of any legislator in the state capitol. The new legislative session will be his fourth term.

Cancun, Post Gilbert

by JIM WARNEK, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Having recently returned from a visit to the hurricane stricken Caribbean, it appears that old Gilbert did a bit more damage to the Mexican Beach Resort of Cancun than the Island of Jamaica.

That's not to say you should avoid a visit to Cancun. In fact, this may be just the time to go. You can wait until March when you will find little remnants of the big storm, or go now when there are some real bargains to be had!

A word of caution. Some hotels that are open, shouldn't be. I found some rooms to have water damage, including still damp carpets and a musty smell. Others have a lot of debris scattered about their grounds. In fact, one hotel (the Imperial Las Perlas) has a Cuban fishing ship, complete with crew, on its beach!

So which hotels are O.K.? The Casa Maya is a good bet. It suffered no damage and the shops and restaurants in this area are open. The Omni is a new hotel that also missed any damage. It has a great beach, though the surf may be a little strong for some people. The Aristos is another good buy in the budget category. The hurricane actually added beach area to this hotel.

If a beach is not top priority, the Intercontinental Cancun has rooms for about $45 a night that did sell for $170 before the storm. The catch? They lost most of their beach. But since all beaches are public, just stroll on down to the next hotel and use theirs. The Krystal also lost some of its beach, though the Mexicans, and the ocean, are quickly replacing it.

Hotels to avoid? The Fiesta Americana needs some more work. The Ramada Renaissance should not be accepting visitors for a month or two more. Unless you didn't mind an ocean-going ship on your beach, I'd stay away from the Imperial Las Perlas. (I did hear they are planning on turning this ship into a disco!)

This is the first, and probably the last, time you will find real bargains in Cancun. With cautious planning you may be able to afford a trip you thought impossible.

'Kaleidoscope' offers potpourri

On Jan. 21 and 22, Gerry Traxler's Choral Dynamics will present their 1989 Spectacular, "Kaleidoscope of Songs" at 8 p.m. at Libertyville High School.

They offer a potpourri of Broadway tunes, folk and novelty songs and popular choral classics. Backed with rhythm combo, brass ensemble and synthesizers, they will celebrate their 20th birthday in grand fashion.

The 75 voice chorus will feature a true Kaleidoscope of songs, with exciting choral arrangements and entertaining soloists, duets, and ensembles - and even some choreography.

In the 20 years they have performed for Lake County audiences they have raised over $100,000 for charitable organizations and this show is no exception.

Benefiting from this show are two local groups; the Lake Shore Youth Services, which provides all encompassing help to troubled youths and their families and the Lake County Board of Realtors in their efforts to raise money for PADS a public action group to deliver shelter.

Second City's clone promising

by TOM WITOM

Comedy clubs continue to spring up everywhere as our fancy turns toward lighter entertainment.

When Chicago's venerable Second City, the granddaddy when it comes to forums for satire, spawned a clone last year in Rolling Meadows in the form of Second City Northwest, it was just a new kid on a busy block.

Its first revue, despite rough spots, showed promise.

And now, with the opening of the second revue, "Rosebud Was the Sled, or Sunday in the Industrial Park With George," Second City Northwest is hitting full stride.

The current offering embraces all of the elements that have made its parent such a widely recognized institution. A cast of six—Fran Adams, Steve Carell, Christina Dunne, Sean Masterson, Tim O'Malley and John Rubano—works in harmony to poke fun at politics, religion and many of the social mores we hold dear. More often than not, they strike home with a punch that touches both the funny bone and the heart.

"Support Group", a skit that reminds one of something the original Second City would have done, touches on society's perverse way of communicating, or lack thereof.

"Affluent" is a nifty musical takeoff of a popular song, except in this context Vice President-elect Dan Quayle is the target.

One of the most touching scenes is a photographic-like series of looks at AIDS. This one will bring on some shivers. The "soft" scene is a strange one in which two Mafia hit men discover the beauty of nature. But a personal favorite is "Pets", an animated fantasy that offers an unforgettable insight into what a dog's life is all about. The costumes alone for this and "Mr. Chicken" will bring on the belly laughs.

Directed by John Michalski, and with musical direction from Fred Kaz, who timing is right on the mark as always, "Rosebud Was the Sled" is scheduled for an open run. If all goes as well as it did on opening night, it will be a long and successful run.

Brides thrilled at Show '89

More than 600 people attended "The Wedding Show '89" Sunday at the Sea Princess in Libertyville.

The show, coordinated by Silk-n-Haz Bridal Salon, Grayslake, and Henry's Formal Wear, Waukegan, featured modeling and displays of merchandise from 18 businesses in the Lakeland area. The show was arranged on a non-profit basis with free admission.

Each of the businesses participating in the show contributed gift certificates worth a total of $5,000.

The show, held at 1:00 and 3:00, was arranged with a calendar theme so that styles for each month of the year were modeled with the flowers to match. It was emceed by Marcella Hardin, a professional from Waukegan, and music was provided by Variety Entertainment Service of Waukonda.

According to Hazel Doyle of Silk-n-Haz Bridal Salon, the response to the show was outstanding. "We showed different things than they're used to looking at. We got that 'I don't believe it!' response from the audience," she said.

Among the dresses modeled that most brides hadn't considered before was one designed by Doyle that starts as a full-length wedding gown, complete with train, and transforms into an above-the-knee cocktail dress for more comfort at the reception.

The models in the show were a mixture of brides and professionals. Their dresses were designs from Silk-n-Haz and Gowns by Anita of Grayslake. Marshall Field's Beauty Salon in the Hawthorn Mall did all the hair styling and makeup and Lewis Florist of Wildwood designed all the flowers for the show. Jewelry worn by the models was provided by D. Dorsey Originals of Vernon Hills.

Other businesses participating were Calligraphy by Bev, Cass Photography, Galla-Vante Travel Services, Inc., The Glass Impression, KE Video, Kevin Weeks County Companies Inc. and Nice-n-Clean Dry Cleaners, all of Grayslake; Golden Image Tanning Salon of Gurnee; and Shamar Limousine Service of Lake Bluff.

SCOUTING REPORT

Grayslake at Lake Zurich

Date: Jan. 20.
Location: Lake Zurich High School.
Game time: 7:30 p.m.
Team records: Grayslake 10-5 overall, 5-0 in Northwest Suburban; Lake Zurich 4-11, 1-5.

Keys to game: the Bears need a win after two straight losses by more than 10 points in league play. Rams must not let down after reaching top of NWSC nor start reading their clips in Chicago newspapers. If they start to think too highly of themselves, Scott Krczeminski and Jack Denny could gladly bring them back to Earth. But Rams are led by Tim West and the outside shooting of Jim Neumann and Tim Hough too boot.

Prediction: Rams continue on a roll, win by eight.

Round Lake at Grant

Date: Jan. 20.
Location: Grant High School, Fox Lake
Game time: 7:30 p.m.
Team records: Grant 6-8 overall, 3-2 in NWSC; Round Lake 6-9 overall, 2-4 in NWSC.

Keys to game: don't look now Grayslake and Marengo, but here comes the Bulldogs. After a 3-8 start Coach Tom Maple's club has discovered that Grant teams don't allow losing records. Bulldogs are seeking fifth straight overall against archrivals. Kip Paul is the man Round Lake must stop, as he is coming off a 28 point outing against Lake Zurich. Round Lake is trying to amend two home losses last week which dropped them below .500. Scott Hall provides inside punch with Rick Haines scoring from three-point range.

Prediction: in a close game throughout, Grant by three for five straight wins.

Wauconda at Johnsburg

Date: Jan. 20.
Location: Johnsburg High School.
Game time: 7:30 p.m.
Team records: Johnsburg 5-8 overall, 1-5 in league play; Wauconda 1-11 overall, 0-5 in NWSC.

Keys to game: Johnsburg finally got the monkey off its back with a close 57-55 win over Round Lake last week. Tom Oeffling and Trevor Hart led the way, but Johnsburg used more of an inside game. Wauconda gave Marian Central fits as Dion and Marc Niemo combined for 30 points. But buzzer-beater shot by MC was enough for one-point win.

Prediction: in a battle of evenly matched teams, Johnsburg prevails by seven.

Mundelein at North Chicago

Date: Jan. 20.
Location: North Chicago Community High School.
Team records: North Chicago 8-7 overall, 6-2 in North Suburban Conference; Mundelein 4-11 overall, 0-8 in NSC.

Keys to game: Mundelein is still searching for that elusive league win. And if the Warhawks don't continue their strong defense, the Mustangs led by Tim Ulrich and Jeff Fuller inside might pull off an upset. Elbert Moore and Jamil Ahmad returned to form in two North Chicago wins last week.

North Chicago: the Warhawks break into the top five for the first time after two conference wins improved the Warhawks to 8-7 overall, 6-2 in NSC. Elbert Moore is team's big scorer with help from Cassius Crittenden, Kelvin Scott and Jamil Ahmad.

Prediction: North Chicago by seven.

Cheering leaders

Among captains and leading cheerers of four Lake County high schools which competed in Stevenson Invitational Cheerleading Competition were, left to right, bottom row: Kim Mosner and Marlie Singer of Stevenson, which gave exhibition performance, Anne Maddock of Mundelein, Karen Uhlir of Warren, and Sara Van Zeeland of Mundelein. Top row: Wendy Hart of Grayslake, Alyssa Lux of Warren, and Carrie Kreuer of Grayslake. Warren placed third at invitational and qualified for regional competition.

Dominguez, solid defense gives Warren's Bader one happy birthday

By STEVE PETERSON
Sports Editor

The birthday was 24 hours earlier, but Warren boys basketball Coach Darrel Bader did not seem to mind the tardiness of the present.

Neither did a host of Warren heroes in a 70-57 win over Zion-Benton, which begins but does not end with Qasim Dominguez.

Dominguez scored 28 points to pace Warren's offense and did that via a route no one had expected - the three pointer. No. 20 hit five of those long-range bombs, to account for 15 of his 28 points. Twenty-two of which came in the first half.

"They were sagging off me. They did not think I could shoot a three-pointer," the happy senior said.

And history was certainly on the Zee-

Bees' defenders side. Prior to that memorable performance, Dominguez's long-range shooting talents had been limited to those classmates who had seen him hit a few in gym class. After donning the gold and blue, Dominguez, a guard, had previously had only one shot from beyond three-point territory.

Overtime

"I talked to Qasim this week and told him that he was not going to be as good a shooter as he was at the beginning of the year nor as bad as he was the last few weeks. He was in a shooting slump but we said things will even out," Bader said.

Dominguez made his presence known early on. He stole the ball from a Zion player and a layup gave the Blue Devils a 6-2 lead. He then scored on consecutive shots for a four-point margin. Two three-pointers by the transfer student from New York gave Warren an 18-16 lead.

The win on Friday the 13th more than evened things out for Warren. The Blue Devils have had a history of trouble against the rival Zee-Bees. Last year, Zion, Warren and Lake Forest all shared the North Suburban Conference title in part because Zion knocked off Warren twice.

So the stage was set in Gurnee as the two 5-1 NSC clubs clashed. The cable television crews were ready, the radio

Cager Report

Warren's boys basketball team continues to lead the way for Lakeland area teams as the Blue Devils notched two more wins last week.

Warren, 7-1 in the North Suburban Conference and 12-3 overall is rated first in this week's top five teams. Warren was led by Qasim Dominguez in a 70-57 win over Zion-Benton and then by Dave Spiller in a 66-41 win over Lake Forest.

Grayslake and Carmel both stayed tied for second in the top five with two wins. The Rams, 10-5 overall took over first place in the Northwest Suburban with a 48-43 win at Marengo for a 5-0 league mark. Grayslake then rallied for a non-conference win over Crystal Lake Central. Carmel edged Joliet Catholic in ESCC play and then beat Hersey in non-conference action at home for seventh straight win.

Wilmot: the Panthers reached 8-2 with an easy win over Milton, Wis.

North Chicago: the Warhawks break into the top five for the first time after two NSC wins improved the Warhawks to 8-7 overall, 6-2 in NSC.

MHS second at meet

Host Mundelein and Antioch topped area teams at the Lake County Gymnastics meet Saturday.

The Mustangs finished second to Barrington with 131.8 points while the Sequoits were fifth at 126.4. Sue Ramig of Antioch was the county champ in the all-around.

broadcasters were waiting for their cues. It was certainly not another mid-January basketball game as the stands were packed on Warren's side and nearly so on the visitors end.

The intensity level was detected early on. A Zion reject of an early Warren shot was quickly followed by a slam dunk basket by Cory Statham.

Warren knew it would have to stop seniors Clayton Myles, John Anderson and Lance Dowell, seniors who had led Zion to five easy NSC wins and early-season rankings. Those three had 17, 14, and 17 points respectively but the problem for Coach Phil Judson's team was the next highest scorer only had three.

Warren, while led by Dominguez, had a balanced attack. The Blue Devils were paced by 64 percent shooting as a team - 28 of 44 while Zion made just 24 of 49, 49 percent. The home team saved the best for last, making seven-of-nine in the final quarter.

Mark Eifert had 12 points. Nick Stianos and Dave Spiller both had 10. And the two had key hoops - two by Stianos kept Warren ahead when Zion tried to rally from a 13-point deficit while Spiller made four straight free throws.

"For the first time I've been here, I think we had a quicker team. Our defensive quickness set the tone and offse their strength on the boards," Bader said.

Indeed it did. The only saving grace for the once mighty Zee-Bees was offensive rebound baskets, a category which ZB won 10-1.

CLC rally falls short, Lancers set for Chiefs

College of Lake County men's basketball Coach on Zeman probably felt good about his team's chances of beating Skyway Conference rival Elgin.

The Lancers, after Elgin dominated the second half for long stretches, had cut the lead to just one with 46 left.

But then it was all Elgin as CLC had nothing left following the comeback. The Lancers were outscored 1-1 in that stretch and eventually finished the game with four players on the floor.

"The way we were playing I thought we had a chance," Zeman said of the comeback.

But in the end, it was Elgin's inside game that was just too much for CLC. The Lancers were without their tallest player, 6-2 Jennifer Robinson, who is out with an injury.

"We could not stop their inside game," Zeman, whose modest two-game win streak came to an end with the loss, said.

Teri Huntington had another strong game for CLC, scoring 28 points. Crystal Payne also had a good scoring night with 16.

The Lancers hope to regain the winning edge in Skyway Conference play when they host Waubonsie

Don Zeman

Jan. 24. Game time is 5 p.m. in Grayslake.

Elgin had a one-two combination of Heidi Fuchs, who had four three-point field goals for 14 points and Cindy Lindquist and Amy Thompson leading the inside attack and both had 18. Karen Miller scored 11 for the Spartans.

CLC, which dropped to 2-8 overall and 2-2 in Skyway Conference play, successfully overcame a 10-point deficit in the first half.

Elgin led 16-6 seven minutes into the contest but after Zeman called a timeout with 13:21 left, CLC got its offense going. Cheryl Geary, a Wauconda graduate, scored two field goals to ignite the rally. Elgin helped by committing five turnovers which allowed CLC to come within one on a Michelle Smith hoop. Two free throws by Huntington gave the hosts a 19-18 lead.

"Once we got over that, I thought we were going to take off in the second half," Zeman said.

The Spartans, 3-1 in league play, had other plans. After a 26-all halftime tie, Elgin opened up a four-point lead in the early going of the second half. CLC tied it at 44 on a Huntington basket with 7:05 left.

Smith fouled out with 5:53 left, leaving the Lancers with five players.

Peavlski helps out on Aurora baskets

Michelle Pavelski, a 1988 graduate of Antioch High School, is a member of the 1988-89 women's basketball team.

Pavelski, a freshman at Aurora, plays forward for Aurora Coach Brenda Hillman.

Aurora was 1-8 through nine games going into the second half of the season. A first-year member of the AU hoops team, Pavelski is also a member of the volleyball squad.

Pavelski, a physical education major, is a resident of Lake Villa.

Second half start, shots end CLC Skyway streak

According to the game clock at the College of Lake County, the time between the first half and the second half is 15 minutes in junior college basketball.

Plenty of time for fans to buy a soda, candy bar and for coaches to talk strategy.

Unfortunately for College of Lake County's chances, the Lancers extended the halftime for an additional eight minutes. That scoring drought, coupled with an overall poor shooting night, spelled the difference in a 73-66 loss to Elgin.

"You don't win many games when you shoot under 50 percent. Staying as close as we did showed a lot of character," CLC Coach Bruce Smith said.

CLC hosts Waubonsie Jan. 24 in Skyway play.

The Lancers trailed only 37-35 at halftime before going into the deep freeze on offense against Elgin. They committed four turnovers and did not score their first point until Al Davis hit one of two free throws with 12 minutes left. That ended an 11 point Elgin run.

Still, CLC, led by high scorer Tom Wells' 17 points, rallied. The hosts even had a lead of a point when Don Kiesgen scored two of his 15 points for a 61-60 margin with 3:11 left.

CLC shut down Elgin's three-point shot specialist, Tom Moritz. He had five three-pointers in the first half but finished with 19 points. Two of his second-half hoops were critical. Those shots gave the winners a 65-61 lead with 2:34 left.

But don't count these Lancers out. Wells, an Antioch graduate, was hot in the second half. He scored on a fastbreak with 1:30 left to trim the lead to two.

And when Cordell Juhola connected on a three-pointer for a 69-66 margin, the Lancer fans had hope.

Streaking Carmel aims to give St. Pats a lesson

The last time Carmel clashed with St. Patrick, the Corsairs received a lesson.

It was not a pleasant one, but one nevertheless that Coach Scott Rosberg hopes the team will benefit from.

Because of a poor start, the Corsairs fell 71-56 in Chicago in December. Now it's end of January and the Corsairs have learned much from that lesson. Carmel, which extended its winning streak to seven straight last week, hosts St. Patrick Jan. 20 in East Suburban Catholic Conference action.

"It all starts to count now," Rosberg said.

The Corsairs earned both wins at home over the weekend by different formulas.

In the first contest the Corsairs used a balanced scoring attack to edge Joliet Catholic 54-52. A close game throughout, Ken Moreano hit two free throws 29 seconds left for a four-point lead.

Center Randy Bierman led Carmel with 15 points but Derek Shaw and Chris Mikrut had an even dozen each.

EMERGENCY CARE, CPR, HELP UP, HEIGHTS AND WEIGHTS, HEARING SCREENING

SOMEDAY I'LL GROW UP
TO BE...

A CERTIFIED SCHOOL NURSE!!!

Times have changed!

People, especially women are choosing different professions from those of their parents. Nursing, secretarial, and teaching discipline choices are now giving way to decisions to become doctors, lawyers and engineers.

What's going on in our society? We're changing...adjusting...adapting to different goals and objectives. And yet, we're recognizing that, for many, there is more personal satisfaction in serving the physical and emotional health needs of our nation's youth than climbing a corporate ladder.

Take a certified school nurse. For instance. In the state of Illinois there are approximately 927 certified school nurses employed in 4,220 schools serving the health needs of approximately 1,811,446 youths between the ages of 3 and 21.

Few people realize being a certified school nurse takes special preparation... more than four years of college classroom and on the job experience. It also takes determination! Certification calls for a minimum of a bachelors degree plus specific educational courses and an internship under an experienced certified school nurse. Many school nurses also have advanced degrees and continue to take classes for professional growth. It takes dedication!

So, what does a certified school nurse do with all of this education and experience? They help protect your child's health. They do first aid & emergency care. They do health histories, screenings & assessments. They provide health education and health counseling. They are advocates in schools to guarantee that someone is monitoring youth's health needs. School nurses promote the concept of mental and physical wellness. SCHOOL NURSES CARE!

Societal changes continue to adversely affect the world our youth live in. Divorce - single parent families - latch key kids - poor nutrition - drugs - school drop outs - abuse - AIDS - alcoholism - teen age pregnancy - depression - suicide! This is the reality of today!

School nurses play multiple roles in assisting children. They are often an integral link between recognition of a child's problem and possible resolution. School nurses are skilled, caring professionals who contribute daily to the protection of our children. The task is endless!

If your child grows up to be a certified school nurse, they will offer more to society than most people realize!

Totally informal, The Charisma is ideal for relaxed, fun-loving families that enjoy sharing good times with friends.

A sky-lit indoor swimming pool is the recreational heart of this home. Because the pool room is vaulted to the second floor, the custom-shaped sunken pool can also be viewed from the master suite and balcony. Even better, early morning swimmers can hop out of bed and slide down a curved slide directly into the water. A circular staircase lets repeat sliders climb back up to the top.

The pool area is practically self-contained, with its own kitchenette and bathroom. Snacks are a breeze, and a poolside refrigerator can be kept permanently stocked with beverages for impromptu gatherings. Outfitted with a shower, the bathroom helps confine wet-footed traffic to the pool area. An exercise room is also close-by, and sun worshippers can soak up rays on the patio.

The living room is the closest the Charisma comes to having a formal living area. Most areas are more fluid, like the broad glass-framed entryway that angles over and stretches out into an even wider dining room.

Family life centers around the vaulted family room and country kitchen, brightened and warmed at the far end by skylights and a woodstove. Family cooks will appreciate the extra vegetable sink, generous counter space and walk-in pantry.

The housekeeper's suite could just as easily house an aging parent or older, semi-independent child. It contains separate cooking, dining and sleeping areas as well as a full bathroom.

The master suite is nothing short of elegant. Fires in the see-through fireplace are visible from both the sleeping area and the elevated spa. Tile surrounding the spa and fireplace provides protection from both fire and water and continues into the adjacent vanity area. Three more large bedrooms share two additional bathrooms.

Tiled roofing and a stucco exterior gives the neo-classical Charisma a contemporary look. The two-story vaulted entryway, capped by a spoked half-round, makes a stately first impression. Round and half-round windows spread across the vast front edifice continue the theme, with furrowed-out stucco relief providing visual interest.

For a study plan of the Charisma (207-06), send $5.00 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307, Eugene, OR. 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering). Designers, Architects and readers with plans they would like to see featured also are invited to contact Landmark.
